THE NEVADA JUDICIARY CASELOAD STATISTICS REPORT

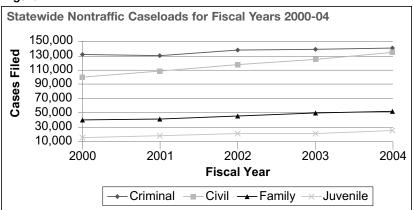

The Uniform System for Judicial Records (USJR) was established in June 1999 by Supreme Court order. USJR requires trial courts to submit information defined in the Nevada USJR Court Statistical Reporting Model (USJR Model) to the Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC) monthly. The information in the USJR Model is divided into four case categories: criminal, civil, family, and juvenile. In fiscal year 2004 (July 1, 2003 — June 30, 2004), two types of statistics were collected in each of these categories. The two types are cases filed (the number and type of cases opened) and dispositions (the number and type of cases adjudicated or closed). The caseload and dispositions for each case category have been defined and consistently categorized for every court.

As technology and resources allow, future phases of USJR will be defined and data will be collected. The next phase will include events in court case processing and the final phase will be the status of pending cases.

This annual report provides caseload inventory (filing) and disposition statistics for the Supreme Court and all 85 trial courts in the state — 17 District Courts, 50 Justice Courts, and 18 Municipal Courts. Where court information varies from the requirements or is incomplete, explanatory footnotes are provided.

Statewide, the total non-traffic caseload increased overall in District and Justice Courts although it varied among individual courts with some increasing and some decreasing. This overall increase correlates to the continuing increase in population; interestingly, the civil caseload is increasing at a greater rate and almost matches the criminal caseload with each exceeding 145,000 cases filed. The trends in each case type, including civil, for the last 5 years can be seen in Figure 1.

For District Courts, Table 1 shows an 8 percent increase in overall non-traffic caseload. Juvenile and criminal caseloads saw the largest increase in District Court at about 21 and 10 percent, respectively. The juvenile increase, however, may be explained by improved reporting in at least one county, which would cause an increase in the reported caseload.

For Justice Courts, Table 1 shows an increase in criminal and civil caseloads. Statewide Justice Court non-traffic filings increased 6 percent from last year. Traffic and parking filings decreased about 5 percent.

For Municipal Courts, Table 1 shows a slight decrease in criminal non-traffic case filings (little more than 1 percent). Traffic and parking filings decreased as well (about 2 percent). As these courts filings are dependent on local law enforcement, the totals are greatly influenced by the number of law enforcement positions filled or vacant. Civil filings are rare in Municipal Courts and are usually for the recovery of unpaid city utility bills.

Supreme Court

The Nevada Supreme Court is the court of last resort and the only appellate court in the state. Nevada does not have an intermediate appellate court. The main constitutional function of the Supreme Court is to review appeals from the decisions of the District Courts. As the only appellate court, the Supreme Court does not have discretionary review and must consider all cases filed. The Supreme Court does not conduct any fact-finding trials, but rather determines whether procedural or legal errors were made in the rendering of lower court decisions.

As can be seen in Table 2, the Supreme Court had 1,852 filings during the last fiscal year, very similar to the year before. The Justices disposed of 1,750 cases, fewer than the year before.

The breakdown of appeals from District Court cases by judicial district is provided in Table 3. As expected, the Eighth Judicial District (Clark County) recorded the most appeals, increasing by 60 cases (almost 4 percent of the total caseload of District Court appeals) from last fiscal year. The Second Judicial District (Washoe County) recorded the second highest number of appeals, although their total decreased by 49 cases (3 percent of the total caseload) from last year.

Appellate Court Comparisions

In contrast to the caseload of appellate courts nationwide, which experienced an overall 9 percent increase during 2002, the Nevada Supreme Court experienced a slight decrease from the previous year. The 2002 caseload numbers published by the National Center for State Courts^{1,2} indicate that in states without an intermediate appellate court, the Nevada Supreme Court was ranked sixth. The District of Columbia is first with 266 appeals per 100,000 persons, then West Virginia with 147, Delaware with 89, Montana with 88, Vermont with 86, and then Nevada with 79. If the discretionary appeals were removed from consideration and only those appeals granted were counted, Nevada is ranked fourth at 79 appeals per 100,000 persons. The District of Columbia is first with 257, Delaware second with 89, and Vermont third with 83.

A comparison of caseload and related information for selected courts with some similarities³ to Nevada is provided in Table 4. Information about some states with intermediate appellate courts is included also. Nevada has more filings per justice (246) than most other appellate courts according to data published by the National Center for State Courts. ^{1,2} Compared with the two other states in Table 4 without intermediate appellate courts, Nevada has triple the filings per justice.

³ The States were selected because of their population ranking (Maine, New Mexico, Arkansas), their regional location (Montana, Arizona, Oregon, New Mexico, Alaska) and/or they had five or seven justices in their Supreme Court (all) without regard to how many justices were in the Intermediate Appellate Court.

District Courts

The District Courts have general jurisdiction. Their jurisdiction is over all felony and gross misdemeanor cases, which are considered together as criminal cases, and civil cases where the amount in dispute exceeds $7,500.4 They also have jurisdiction for all family and juvenile cases. Some District Courts use Juvenile Masters who hear traffic and other juvenile cases.

The 17 counties of Nevada are divided into 9 Judicial Districts although each county staffs and maintains a District Court. The sparse populations of rural Nevada have necessitated that five of the Judicial Districts encompass multiple counties (see page 12). Judges in these rural Judicial Districts must travel within the multiple counties to hear cases on a regular basis. District Judges have statewide authority and may hear cases throughout the state, although they are elected within the Judicial District they generally serve.

Statistical Summary

District Court case filing information for the last two fiscal years is summarized in Table 5. Summary disposition information is included in Table 6. This is the fifth year of statistics for the courts.

The distribution of case types within the District Courts is shown in Figure 2. Family cases make up the largest percentage of the court caseload at 44 percent, civil and juvenile (non-traffic) cases are similar at 23 and 22 percent, and criminal is the smallest at 11 percent.

Statewide, the District Court criminal caseload for fiscal year 2004 increased about 10 percent from the previous year (see Table 5). Clark County increased the most by more than 1,000 cases (almost 15 percent); however, the smaller population

⁴ The 2003 Legislature passed Assembly Bill 100, which increases the amount of civil disputes to be heard in Justice Courts to $10,000 effective January 2005. This change similarly affects District Court cases.

District Courts such as Lincoln and Pershing Counties increased the largest percentage, 65 and 42 percent, respectively.

The civil caseload increased more than 3 percent statewide. For the counties with larger populations, the civil caseload in Washoe County decreased 7 percent and Clark County increased 5 percent. Larger caseload increases in the counties with smaller populations included Nye County with almost 42 percent and Churchill County with 20 percent.

Family-related cases are handled only at the District Court level. The statewide total caseload for the fiscal year saw a 5 percent increase over last year. Caseloads in many rural courts declined while the urban courts increased: Washoe County almost 3 percent and Clark County more than 7 percent.

Juvenile case filings reported by District Courts for fiscal year 2004 had the most increase from the previous year of the four case types at 21 percent. Juvenile traffic violations are separated from other juvenile cases, especially at the District Court level, in part because procedures among the judicial districts vary. The largest increase appears to be in Clark County (41 percent); however, the staff in Clark County are now reporting case types they were not including previously. The true increase is not determinable.

Comparing the 2003 caseloads of general jurisdiction courts of Nevada to those of the surrounding eight western states highlights some interesting points (see Table 7). Nevada has the fewest number of Judges per 100,000 in population (2.6) among all western states. Nevada also ranks third in the categories of filings per Judge and filings per 100,000 population among these states.

Disposition information for District Courts is provided in Table 6. This is the fourth year for the collecting and reporting of the disposition information, which is a difficult process for courts.

Most courts count manually, some courts had their case management systems modified during the year, and some courts were unable to provide accurate and complete information. As with many such projects, the accuracy and completeness of this information will improve over time.

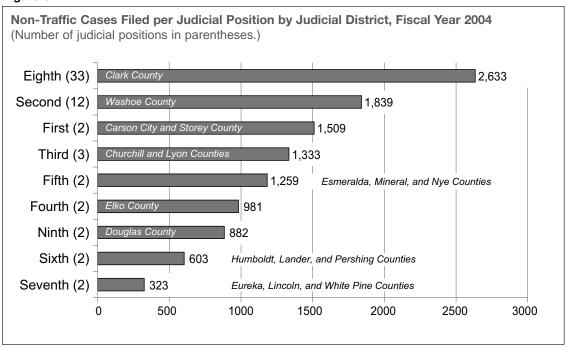

Total dispositions decreased slightly over the last year. The criminal and family case dispositions saw overall decreases while the civil and juvenile case dispositions saw overall increases statewide. Juvenile traffic dispositions increased 38 percent due, in part, to improved reporting by some District Courts.

Dividing the disposition numbers by the filing numbers and multiplying by 100 provides a clearance rate for the court. A clearance rate of 90 percent or higher is good. A clearance rate of more than 100 percent generally indicates the court purged old cases.

Cases Per Judicial Position

The number of non-traffic cases filed per judicial position for each Judicial District in Nevada for fiscal year 2004 is shown in Figure 3. In the judicial districts that contain more than one county (First, Third, Fifth, Sixth, and Seventh), the cases for those counties are summed and divided by the number of Judges for each district.

Statewide average of cases filed per judicial position for District Courts is 2,068.

To make the comparisons more consistent, juvenile traffic charges were removed from the totals used for calculating the cases filed per judicial position. In the Justice and Municipal Courts, traffic charges are not included in the determination of cases filed per judicial position because they may be resolved by payment of fines and not require judicial time. At the District Court level, Juvenile Masters or District Court Judges handle juvenile traffic cases and the cases may be counted at the District or Justice Court level depending on the processes within the judicial district.

As has been the case for the last few years, the Eighth Judicial District (Clark County) has the largest number of non-traffic cases filed per judicial position at 2,633, an increase over last year (2,449). The Second Judicial District (Washoe County) was next with 1,839 cases filed per judicial position, a decrease from last fiscal year (1,956). The First Judicial District (Carson City and Storey County) follows with 1,509 cases per judicial position, which is down slightly from last fiscal year (1,563).

The statewide average number of non-traffic cases filed per judicial position for District Courts increased to 2,068, which is 144 cases per Judge higher than last fiscal year (1,924). Since the data collection began, this statewide average has increased every year but one — fiscal year 2001. That year, five new Judges had been added statewide.

District Court Judges with smaller caseloads assist the busier District Courts through judicial assignments made by the Supreme Court. Also, in multi-county judicial districts, Judges are required to travel hundreds of miles each month among the counties within their districts to hear cases. This travel time reduces the amount of time available to hear cases.

Judicial Assistance

The AOC and the courts have started the process of quantifying the judicial assistance provided to the courts by Special Masters, Senior Judges, and visiting Judges to help dispose cases.

Quasi-Judicial Assistance

The first step in quantifying this assistance was to identify and assign a measure to quasi-judicial positions. These positions have limited authority and are accountable to an elected Judge; they cannot be considered equivalent to a full judicial position and, therefore, are called quasi-judicial positions.

Individuals in these positions, who help with the adjudication process and are appointed by the court, were identified and their time quantified. The courts were asked to provide an estimate of the full-time equivalent assistance provided during the year; a summary is provided in Table 8. In District Courts, most of the quasi-judicial officers are commissioners, referees, and masters for alternative dispute resolution, family, and juvenile cases. The work of these quasi-judicial officials must be reviewed and approved by elected Judges. These positions are not included in the filings per judicial position chart.

Additionally, in a few districts, such as the Fifth and Seventh Judicial Districts, Justices of the Peace serve as the Juvenile Masters for juvenile traffic cases.

Senior Judge Program

Alternative methods used to provide intermittent judicial assistance to courts include the Senior Judge program and temporary assignment of District Court Judges. Supreme Court Rule 10 governs the Senior Judge program. Briefly, any former Supreme Court Justice or District Court Judge who qualifies for retirement and who was not removed or retired for cause or defeated for retention in an election may apply to become a Senior Justice or Judge. The Senior Judges are eligible for temporary assignment by Supreme Court order to any state trial court at or below the level they previously served.

Information on Senior Judge assignments is provided in Table 9. Each order is counted as one assignment. Some orders may have been signed in previous fiscal years and the Senior Judge is still hearing motions in the case(s). Also, orders may contain multiple Judges, days, or cases depending on what type of request was received. Sometimes, Senior Judges are requested when a Judge retires or takes an extended leave, so that assignment would be for a period of time to hear whatever cases were on the calendar. Occasionally, Senior Judges are requested when a Judge is recused or is peremptorily challenged from a case. That assignment would be for a specific case only.

 $^{^{\}mathrm{a}}$ Some orders may have been signed in previous fiscal years and the Senior Judge is still hearing motions in the case resulting in zero assignments for the fiscal year but days of assignments.

During fiscal year 2004, the judiciary had nine Senior Judges actively serving the District Courts. The combined efforts of these Judges provided assistance equivalent to about one and one-half full-time Judges for the State, not including more than 18 days of travel time associated with these assignments.

Assistance by District Court Judges

The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court may assign District Court Judges to assist in other judicial districts according to Article 6, Section 19 of the Nevada Constitution.

Information on District Court Judge assistance is provided in Table 10. The assistance requested by each Judicial District is given as well as the assistance Judges in each judicial district provided to other judicial districts. Each order is counted as one assignment for assistance. However, each order may contain multiple Judges, days, or cases depending on what type of request for assistance was received. Sometimes, District Court Judge assignments are requested when a Judge retires or takes an extended leave, so that assignment would be for a period of time to hear whatever cases were on the calendar. Sometimes, District Court Judge assistance is requested when another District Court Judge is recused or is peremptorily challenged from a case. Such an assignment would be for one case only.

During fiscal year 2004, the District Courts had 15 individual Judges who filled requests for assistance.

Alternative Dispute Resolution Program

The Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) Program began on July 1, 1992, after passage by the 1991 Legislature of Senate Bill 366. The legislation required the Second and Eighth Judicial Districts (Washoe and Clark Counties) to implement the ADR Program. The First and Ninth Judicial Districts (Carson City, Storey County, and Douglas County) subsequently adopted the program voluntarily. An Arbitration Commissioner administers the program in each judicial district.

50

Initially, the ADR Program focused on certain civil cases with probable jury award value of less than $25,000. A subsequent revision increased the amount to $40,000; however, the Ninth Judicial District, in the program voluntarily, opted to keep the lower amount.

Caseload and Settlement Rate

The number of cases entering the arbitration program for fiscal year 2004 was lower for three of the four judicial districts than their respective long-term annual average program caseloads (sum of annual caseloads for the last 10 years divided by 10 for all but the First Judicial District, which only has 7 years data). Interestingly, the First Judicial District Court was the only one to have more cases entering the program this fiscal year than their long-term average. The caseload and settlement rates for the fiscal year and the long-term annual average for each district program are provided in Table 11.

The settlement rate can vary greatly from one year to another within each district and can be affected by the increase or decrease in the number of arbitrators, training sessions, and support staff. The settlement rate is the number of cases settled or dismissed after entering the arbitration program compared with those cases requesting trials de novo (new, complete bench or jury trials).

The First, Second, and Ninth Judicial Districts had settlement rates that were lower during the fiscal year than the long-term averages of each of their programs. The Eighth Judicial District had a settlement rate that was higher during the fiscal year than the long-term average for their program.

The Second, Eighth, and Ninth Judicial Districts collect fees ($5 per case filing) for the program. All three have expenses that exceed the amount collected in filing fees. The First Judicial District does not collect fees. The judicial districts use the fees for the administration of the arbitration program, including staff and technology expenses.

All four judicial districts continue to find the program a successful alternative to regular trials. The program is well received by members of the bar, litigants, and public because cases in the program are processed expeditiously and at reduced expense.

Specialty Court Programs

Specialty courts are judicial problem-solving processes designed to address the root causes that contribute to criminal involvement. Nevada has led the nation in the development of Drug Courts as an alternative way of returning productive members to society. Drug Courts have been proven highly ^{*} First, Second, and Eighth Judicial Districts have a $40,000 maximum for cases to be in the program; Ninth Judicial District has a $25,000 maximum. Cases that qualify are automatically included in the program and parties have to request to be removed.

^{} The case management system used by the Eighth Judicial District does not capture snap shots of information required for these calculations. Instead, if a case is filed in 2000 and settled in 2004, it counts as settled in 2000. Whenever possible the updated information is included in the calculations; however, the actual settlement rate for the Eighth Judicial District may be slightly higher owing to some cases being settled after many years.

effective with defendants whose drug use or abuse brought them in contact with the criminal justice system. Nevada has several Drug Courts at the District Court level.

The Adult Criminal Drug Court is the most common. Participants are part of the criminal justice system and enrolled in the program as a part of their sentence and rehabilitation. Generally, Adult Diversion Drug Court offers a slightly less intensive treatment program since most of the Diversion Court clients are working and have a less severe drug or alcohol problem. Prison Re-entry Drug Courts give prison inmates with drug problems an opportunity to get out of prison a year or two early through this program. Family, Dependency, and Child Support Drug Courts all deal with domestic situations, such as an failure to pay ordered child support, that are worsened by those using illegal drugs. Juvenile Drug Courts are for youth that find themselves in the criminal justice system with drug use as part of the problem.

The development of Mental Health Courts emerged from the success of the Drug Court model. A large percentage of people in jail with a substance abuse problem also have a co-occurring disorder of mental illness. Nationally, the crisis in mental health care may be traced to the long-term effects of deinstitutionalization of the mentally ill and a lack of a corresponding increase in community-based mental health care.

In addition to the benefits provided the defendants, the counties and taxpayers receive primary benefits of reduced number of people in the prisons and increased number of productive members in society.

During the 2003 Legislature, AB29 was passed that added a $7 assessment to misdemeanor charges when defendants are found guilty in Justice and Municipal Courts to provide additional funding for specialty courts throughout the state. All Drug Courts are eligible for money through this source. Other specialty courts that are eligible for this additional funding include Alcohol and Mental Health Courts.

The information provided below is tracked by the individual specialty court staff. No standards have been defined and applied statewide. For example, some Districts provide the number of participants for the year and some provide the number of new admissions. As these have slightly different connotations, care should be taken in comparisons among the programs.

First, Third, & Ninth Judicial Districts

The Western Nevada Regional Drug Court program began in fiscal year 2002, and encompasses the First, Third, and Ninth Judicial Districts and Mineral County in the Fifth Judicial District. The adult-only program includes cases from the District Courts in Carson City, Churchill, Douglas, Lyon, Mineral, and Storey Counties. Third Judicial District Court Judge Archie Blake is the primary administrator of the program. Other Third Judicial District Court Judges (from Lyon and Churchill Counties) fill in as needed.

One obvious difference between the Regional Drug Court and those in Clark and Washoe Counties is that the presiding Judge must travel to hear the cases in the other participating judicial districts. In fact, Judge Blake agreed to include Hawthorne (Mineral County) in the Western Region Drug Court to maximize the judicial resources available to serve the area. Most of the individual counties within the Western Region Drug Court area also have some separate form of Juvenile Drug Court.

The Western Nevada Regional Drug Court program had 46 graduates during the fiscal year. Additionally, the Drug Court had eight participants who delivered drug-free babies during the fiscal year.

Second Judicial District

The Washoe County Drug Court program has been in operation since 1994. Judge Peter Breen and Judge Charles M. McGee handle the duties for Adult and Family Drug Courts, respectively.

One indication of the success of the Washoe County District Court Drug Courts is that 33 babies were born drug-free to participants in all the programs during fiscal year 2004. Without this intervention, many or all of these babies would have been born with drugs in their systems with the associated drug-related developmental problems.

Judge Peter Breen also manages the Mental Health Court for Washoe County, which began in November 2001. In addition to the defendants with felony and gross misdemeanor charges, the Mental Health Court also accepts those with misdemeanor charges. During fiscal year 2004, the Mental Health Court had 145 people enrolled, of which 14 graduated and 12 were terminated.

Fifth Judicial District

The Fifth Judicial District Adult Drug Court program has been operating since April 2002. Judge Robert Lane presides over the Adult and Family Drug Court programs.

The Nye County Drug Court had one drug-free baby born to a participant in the program during 2004 and four babies born in 2003.

The Fifth Judicial District began operation of a Juvenile Drug Court in February 2004. Senior Justice of the Peace Margaret Whittaker presides over the Juvenile Drug Court under the direction of Judge Lane.

Eighth Judicial District

Eighth Judicial District Court Judge Jack Lehman began the first Nevada Drug Court in Clark County, in 1992; that was the fifth Drug Court in the nation at that time. In December 2000, Judge Lehman implemented the nation's First Early Release Reentry Drug Court in Clark County. Although Judge Lehman retired in January 2003 he returned to preside over the Adult Criminal and Prison Re-entry Drug Courts. Others who preside over Drug Courts include Judge William Voy, Juvenile Drug Court; Judge Doug Smith, Las Vegas Justice Court; and Judge Billy Moma, Laughlin Justice Court.

The Clark County District Court Drug Court program had 18 drug-free babies born to participants during fiscal year 2004. The District Court also received an award for the Prison Re-entry Drug Court from the National Association of Counties. The award is in recognition of innovative county government programs.

Justice Courts

The Justice Courts are limited jurisdiction courts, meaning their caseload is restricted to particular types of cases or actions as prescribed by the Nevada Revised Statutes. Justice Courts determine whether felony and gross misdemeanor cases have enough evidence to be bound over to District Court for trial. They hear misdemeanor non-traffic cases as well as general civil cases (amounts up to $7,500°), small claims (up to $5,000), summary eviction cases, and requests for temporary protective orders (domestic violence° or stalking and harassment). They also hear traffic and, in some communities, parking cases, which are counted by charge.

The Justices of the Peace are elected within the townships they serve (see p. 8). They may hear cases in other townships within their county.

Statistical Summary

The Justice Court case filing information for the last two fiscal years is summarized in Table 12. Disposition summary information is included in Table 13. This is the fifth year of statistics for the courts.

Statewide, the number of Justice Court non-traffic (criminal and civil) cases filed in fiscal year 2004 increased more than 6 percent from fiscal year 2003. Statewide traffic and parking violations decreased 5 percent, reversing the increase from the previous year. Some rural Justice Courts experienced large increases (Austin, Jackpot, Searchlight, Wadsworth, and Wells Justice Courts) or decreases (Bunkerville and Verdi Justice Courts) in criminal case filings. In traffic violations, other rural Justice Courts saw large increases (Canal [Fernley] and New River [Fallon] Justice Courts) or decreases (Wells and Meadow Valley [Pioche] Justice Courts). Much of this change can be attributed to the increase or decrease of state or local law enforcement staffing. Some areas are facing economic hardships and law enforcement officers were not replaced when the positions were vacated. In some areas, the positions have finally been filled after having been left vacant for an extended period.

As expected, the Las Vegas Justice Court had the highest criminal and traffic caseload with 60 and 52 percent, respectively, of the statewide totals. Reno Justice Court was next with more than 7 percent of the criminal and 10 percent of the traffic caseloads. Carson City Justice and Municipal Court followed with more than 4 percent of the traffic caseloads.

Civil filings for fiscal year 2004 increased more than 9 percent statewide from last year. One factor for this increase noted by several courts is that more public agencies and private businesses are seeking collection of debts through the judicial system.

Although Las Vegas Justice Court had the highest percentage of civil cases statewide (59 percent), Reno Justice Court continued to have an unusually high percentage (more than 17 percent) for its population distribution (about 10 percent of the state).

The Gold Run and Gerlach Justice Courts were closed during fiscal year 2004, leaving a total of 48 Justice Courts to begin the next fiscal year.

Disposition information for Justice Courts is provided in Table 13. This is the fourth year for the collecting and reporting of the disposition information. Many courts still count data manually while some courts had their case management systems modified during the year, and some courts were unable to provide accurate information. As with many projects, the accuracy and completeness of this information will improve over time.

All disposition categories except traffic increased over last year, some increases are owing to improved reporting and others to improving their processing of traffic cases. Las Vegas Justice Court implemented a new case management system for civil cases that allowed for much improved reporting of civil dispositions, which accounted for most of the civil increase in dispositions statewide.

Dividing the disposition numbers by the filing numbers and multiplying by 100 provides a clearance rate for the court. A clearance rate of 90 percent or higher is good. A clearance rate of more than 100 percent generally indicates the court purged many old cases.

⁶ In some areas near the more urban cities, the Justice Court may not hear domestic violence protection orders because they are heard at the Family Division of District Court.

Cases Per Judicial Position

Justice Courts present a unique problem when comparing non-traffic cases per judicial position. Many of the Justices of the Peace work part-time. Cases in Justice Courts tend to be much simpler than cases in District Courts, thus a Justice Court can handle a larger number of cases per judicial position. In the Justice and Municipal Courts, traffic charges are not included in the determination of cases filed per judicial position because they may be resolved by payment of fines and not require judicial time.

To simplify the presentation in Figure 4, only those Justice Courts with 1,000 non-traffic cases or more per judicial position are shown; the remaining courts are listed in a footnote. The break at 1,000 was arbitrary. The caseload information for Carson City Justice and Municipal Court is combined for the consolidated municipality and is provided in Figure 4 and Tables 12-13 with Justice Courts.

In Figure 4, nine courts have more than 2,000 non-traffic cases filed per judicial position. Las Vegas had the most at 14,469, up from the previous year (13,111); Las Vegas is adding another judicial position in January 2005 to help reduce this caseload. The statewide average of non-traffic cases filed per judicial position for Justice Courts is 2,988, an increase from last fiscal year (2,768).

Judicial Assistance

Boulder Justice Court*

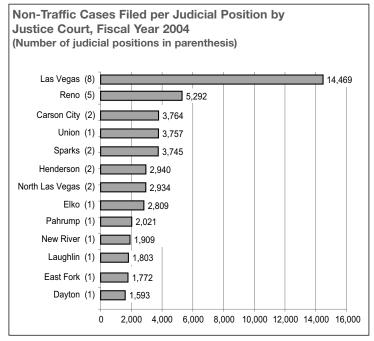

Mesquite Justice Court*

The AOC and the courts have started the process of quantifying the judicial assistance provided to the courts to help dispose cases. The first step was to identify and assign a measure to quasi-judicial positions. These are special master positions that help with the adjudication process, but are not elected judicial officials. The courts were asked to provide an estimate of the full-time equivalent (FTE) assistance provided during the year.

Las Vegas is the only Justice Court that reported quasi-judicial positions to help with their burgeoning caseload. They had 0.61 FTE in a Traffic Judge and 0.07 FTE in referees who helped with traffic matters only and 0.41 FTE in other quasi-judicial positions that helped with small claims cases. The Traffic Judge is a Senior Justice of the Peace whose findings are not under review by sitting Judges. The other traffic and small claims referees can make recommendations or judgments that are subject to review and confirmation by sitting Justices of the Peace.

Municipal Courts

Municipal Courts are city courts and only handle cases that involve violation of city ordinances. Their jurisdiction covers the handling of traffic and non-traffic misdemeanors and, in some cities, parking. Although they generally do not handle civil cases, they have limited jurisdiction under Nevada Revised Statute 5.050.

Most Municipal Court Judges are elected within the municipality they serve (see p. 9); however some are appointed by their city council.

Statistical Summary

The Municipal Court case filing information for the last two fiscal years is summarized in Table 14. Disposition summary information is provided in Table 15. This is the fifth year of statistics for the courts.

The non-traffic misdemeanor cases filed for Las Vegas Municipal Court were adjusted because the Municipal Court can only provide information by charge, not by case or defendant. This resulted in unfair comparisons being made among Municipal Courts throughout the state. The total charges submitted by Las Vegas Municipal Court were divided by 1.5 to estimate the number of defendants. This value of 1.5 was determined by analyzing the information submitted by other Municipal Courts throughout the state for the last 5 years; only those courts that provided both defendants and charges for individual months were used in the calculations to determine this divisor.

Statewide Municipal Court criminal filings in fiscal year 2004 decreased little more than 1 percent from the year before. Statewide traffic violations were similar, decreasing about 2 percent as well.

Summary of Municipal Court Cases Disposed, Fiscal Years 2003-04

Some Municipal Courts experienced large increases (Elko and West Wendover) or decreases (Lovelock and Mesquite) in criminal case filings. Some Municipal Courts saw large increases (Elko and West Wendover) or decreases (Caliente and Wells) in traffic and parking violations. Some of this change can be attributed to the increase or decrease of local law enforcement staffing. Some cities are facing economic hardships and law enforcement officers were not replaced when the positions were vacated.

For only the third time since data collection began in July 1999, a Municipal Court had civil filings. The Caliente Municipal Court had 20 small claims filings wherein the city was seeking payment through the courts for unpaid utility bills. This is the type of limited jurisdiction civil case a Municipal Court may handle.

The disposition information for Municipal Courts is provided in Table 15. This is the fourth year for the collecting and reporting of the disposition information. Some courts had to count manually, some courts had their case management systems modified during the year, and some courts were unable to provide accurate information. As with many projects, the accuracy and completeness of this information will improve over time.

Non-traffic dispositions increased 6 percent over last year, some owing to improved reporting and others to improved clearance rates. The traffic and parking dispositions decreased 3 percent from last year.

Dividing the disposition numbers by the filing numbers and multiplying by 100 provides a clearance rate for the court. Generally, a clearance rate of 90 percent or better is good; a clearance rate of more than 100 percent indicates a reduction in the backlog or the court purged many old cases. However, since some of the courts provided incomplete information, many rates cannot be accurately determined.

Cases Per Judicial Position

The number of cases filed per judicial position for Municipal Courts in fiscal year 2004 is shown in Figure 5. Historical information for the previous 3 years is also provided because a change was made in the calculations this year (dividing Las Vegas Municipal Court non-traffic misdemeanor charges by 1.5 to approximate defendants as reported by other courts). To avoid misrepresentations or inaccurate comparisons to previous years' information, historical information has been revised and is provided in the chart as well. The courts are ranked in order based on the fiscal year 2004 data. In the Justice and Municipal Courts, traffic charges are not included in the determination of cases filed per judicial position because they may be resolved by payment of fines and not require judicial time.

Continuing the order as in the previous year, the two Municipal Courts with the largest non-traffic caseload per judicial position are North Las Vegas (8,364) and Las Vegas (4,710), with Sparks (2,862), Henderson (2,677), and Reno (1,900) following. The statewide average of cases filed per judicial position for Municipal Courts is 2,157, up from the revised number for the previous year (2,037). The caseload information for Carson City Justice and Municipal Court is combined for the consolidated municipality and is provided in Figure 4 and Tables 12-13 with Justice Courts.

Judicial Assistance

The AOC and the courts have started the process of counting the judicial assistance provided to the courts to help dispose cases. The first step was to identify and assign a measure to quasi-judicial positions. These are positions that help with the adjudication process but are not elected judicial officials. The courts were asked to provide an estimate of the full-time equivalent (FTE) assistance provided during the year.

Municipal Court information submitted indicates no court received any judicial assistance.

Figure 5.

Statewide average of cases filed per judicial position for Municipal Courts is 2,157.

Courts with Incomplete Data

The courts that did not provide all of their monthly data for fiscal year 2004 are listed in Table 16, as are the specific elements of the data missing during the year.

Other tables in this report have data in italics or a footnote (i) indicating the data are incomplete and referring the reader here to determine what is missing. In a few instances, courts submitted all they could count, but acknowledge that there are issues with the numbers and they are working to correct them. In those instances, the data will be in italics or flagged with footnote e, estimated, but the court may not appear here if all monthly reports were filed.

Last fiscal year, nine courts were unable to provide all their caseload disposition information. This year, all courts were again able to provide some caseload filing information. However, eight courts are missing some or all of their disposition information. Reporting by the courts continues to improve and all the courts are to be commended for their efforts to meet the Uniform System for Judicial Records reporting requirements.

The disposition data requirements are harder for court staff to collect than the filing information. Many courts throughout Nevada do not have automated case management systems; court staff must manually collect the information from each case or citation.

The Administrative Office of the Courts is working with the courts on technology projects that will bring case management systems (CourtView) to many of the rural courts and similar technology to some urban courts. This new system provides the courts with an automated mechanism to prepare their monthly statistics reports while also improving court processes and procedures.

During fiscal year 2004, Carson City District Court and North Las Vegas Municipal Court began using the criminal module, and Argenta (Battle Mountain), Beowawe, Carson City, and Eureka Justice Courts began using the new system in its entirety. At the end of fiscal year 2004 throughout Nevada, 19 courts were using some or all of the modules for the CourtView case management system. Several courts are scheduled to begin using the new system during fiscal year 2005.

Glossary of Case Types

Criminal Case Types
